ALEXANDRIA.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 23.

At a meeting of the citizens of Alexandria, convened at the City Tavern, the 21st day of November, 1816, pursuant to notice given by the Mayor, to take into consideration the subject of petitioning for a branch of the U. States Bank, to be established in the district of Columbia—Edmund L. Lee, Esq. Mayor of Alexandria, was called to the Chair, and Alexander Moore appointed Secretary.

Resolved, that a committee of five persons be appointed to draft resolutions expressive of the sentiments of this meeting, with respect to the establishment of a branch of the United States Bank in the district of Columbia.

Whereupon the following gentlemen were named the committee: George Deneale, Thomas Swann, Jacob Hoffman, Anthony C. Cazenove, and John Longden. The committee retired, and after some time returned and made their report to this meeting; & the same being fully considered, it was thereupon Resolved, that the present and increasing commercial and other business of the district of Columbia, and the prosperity of its citizens, the interest of the Bank of the U. States, as well as that of the district, would be promoted by the establishment of a branch of that institution in the town of Alexandria, in the said district, or if the town of Alexandria cannot be obtained, then in such other place in the District as the President and Directors of the Bank of the U. S. may deem expedient.

Resolved, that the foregoing considerations, independent of any connected with the government, justify the expectation, that the District of Columbia which has so largely contributed to the capital stock of the bank of the U. S. will not be excluded from a participation in those advantages which are anticipated from it.

Resolved, that the chairman of this meeting, Thomas Vowell, Hugh Smith, Phineas Janney, Thomas Swann and Joseph Dean, be a committee to co-operate with our fellow citizens of the other parts of the District, to take such steps as may be deemed expedient to promote the views of this meeting, and the essential interests of the town of Alexandria.

Resolved, that these proceedings be published in the Alexandria newspapers, and that the chairman forward copies of the same to the Mayors of Washington and Georgetown.

Resolved, that the chairman is entitled to the thanks of this meeting for the manner in which he has discharged the duties of his station.

EDM. L. LEE, Chairman.
ALEXANDER MOORE, Sec'y.

The passage of the Importer from Liverpool to New-York was performed in twenty three days, the shortest known for the last twenty years, and perhaps the shortest from port to port that ever was performed.

We have been favored with several commercial letters received by the Importer; the latest we publish to-day. We regret to learn from some of the letters received, the failure of the great commercial house of Alexander Glenzie, Son & Co. the amount is variously stated, from forty to seventy thousand pounds sterling.

Communicated for the Federal Gazette.

Extract of a letter from Messrs. Hutchins, Travers & Co. to their correspondent in this city, dated Lisbon, 24th Sept. 1816.

Flour has taken a considerable start, and so high are prices, that government have issued an order under date the 17th inst. allowing foreign flour to enter for four months from 1st November to 28th February next, on paying a duty of 120 Rials per Alqr. equal to about 180 cents per barrel, when at the expiration of said term, without any other notice, the old duty of 83 per barrel will be resumed.

Philadelphia Flour would now command Rials 8,800 a 9,000.

Baltimore do 8,400 a 8,800 on board.

The season for Indian corn is over, and the best round yellow would not command more than 360 per Alqr on board.

Naval stores, staves & salt provisions, are unsaleable.

Extract to a respectable merchant in Baltimore, dated

"Liverpool, Oct. 24.

"The article of first importance in the list of your exports, cotton, continues to command a high price, and uplands have been well supported by a demand for twist, made from that particular description for foreign markets. If the present crop in the United States is as extensive as we have from recent advices been induced to believe, there can be no doubt but the prices of next year will materially decline. The present prices of tobacco are high, and the stock in this port (about 4,000 hogheads) is so small, as to ensure the continuance of good prices till the actual arrival or immediate prospect of considerable supplies. The crop of corn, from the unfavorable season, short in itself, has been badly harvested; a belief has consequently been gained, that we shall be in need of foreign supplies;

hence, a rise has taken place, which has driven up the average in the maritime districts of the kingdom as high, as to almost ensure the free importation of flour, wheat, &c. after the 15th of Nov. next. Though American Flour is not admissible at present, we annex its comparative value.

"Sweet superfine American flour, 65 to 68s; good American wheat, 15 to 16s; rice, 34 to 36s; cotton, N. Orleans, 1s. 6d. to 1s 10d; uplands, 17 to 20d; sea-island, 22d to 29d; flax seed, none in market."

Extract of a letter from Dublin.

"By the following statement from the linen board, you will have little encouragement to ship flaxseed to this country. We shall have on hand, next sowing season, nearly a half supply. There remains unsold the following number of casks, in the different ports:

Belfast	4991	Newry	1203
Cork	3398	Sligo	75
Dublin	7392	Westport	698
Drogheda	125	Waterford	31
Galway	1009
Killala	36	Total	24583
Limerick	763
Londonderry	5862	Sold in 1815	53268

Under the New York head will be found the particulars of news, by an arrival at New York from England. The recent rapid advance of Bread Stuffs, on the arrival of the Arlequin, is proved to be premature, since higher prices have been lately given for wheat and flour in this country, than (duties and charges out of the question) it could be sold for in England. In consequence of a prevailing doubt of the correctness of the Harlequin News, flour and wheat have been some days falling. The selling price of flour in this district is about eleven dollars and a half per barrel. It is a fact creditable to the discernment of the merchants of Alexandria, that in that great Flour Market, the article did not rise, though there was not much in store, as in New York, Baltimore, &c. other parts, at a price beyond what the principles and course of trade would justify. Flour, we believe, did not advance in Alexandria much beyond 12 dollars. The highest sale we heard of in this city was at 13 and a half. There is very little probability, we think, of flour falling below 10 dollars, and perhaps not below 11, for months to come.

The high price of wheat and corn flour and meal, particularly of the latter, arising from the poverty of the crops in this part of the country, have excited serious uneasiness for the sake of those whose main dependence for support is on these articles. It will scarcely be credited, that corn meal is retailing in this city at two dollars and a half per bushel, and has been sold, as we heard, at three; cannot our Western friends send down the Mississippi, and round to the Atlantic ports, some part of their plentiful crops?—If the project be practicable, those who undertake it cannot fail of realizing a handsome profit.

So heavy is the pressure of the scarcity, and the fear of its being increased by the extraordinary shipments of flour, &c. that we have been told, the prohibition of the exportation of these articles by Congress has been the subject of consideration in some parts of the country. We believe, however, that a resort to restrictive measures will not be found necessary, since the surplus products and some parts of the country, we do not doubt, is abundantly sufficient to supply all deficiencies, real or apparent, in others.

The frigate Congress, capt. Morris, sailed from New York on the 18th inst. with a fine westerly wind, for the Gulf of Mexico.

INDIANA.

We have an interesting account of the organization of the government of the new state of Indiana. After the Legislature was organized, the votes for governor and Lieutenant Governor were counted; when, for governor it appeared that there were,

For Jonathan Jennings 3411 votes
Thomas Posey 3914

For Lieut. Gov. Governor,
Christopher Harrison had 6557 votes
John Wawter 47

After the governor's speech, appointment of committees, etc. the legislature proceeded, on the 5th day of their session, to elect Senators to represent the state in Congress. The votes were,

For James Noble 26
Walter Taylor 20
James Scott 16

The two first were accordingly declared to be duly elected, having a plurality. This, it appears to us, is a new principle in legislative ballots.

From the American—Published at Hancock (N. H.)

A young man, who had often rode the "mountain wave," and braved the "petting of the pitiless storm," was treated with the basest ingratitude, by a person in whom he placed the greatest confidence, and in whose hands he had deposited a considerable sum of money, the reward of many toilsome days and sleepless nights at sea. This wretch decamped with the whole, which so affected the young man, that he determined to drown his sorrows in the bowl, and remember his poverty no more; he accordingly bought a quantity of wine—poured out a cup, and drank it—another—raised it to his lips, and paused; here the silent monitor within awoke, and reminded him that he had an aged father, and most affectionate wife, dependent on him for support? He dashed the cup, and fled from the precipice which threatened his destruction.

"O give me wine—my heart is sore—
In gratitude hath pierced it deep;
Give me the cup—I'll drink once more,
Yes, drink till I forget to weep.

Then come, obvious nectar, come—
And hail, thou sweetly poisonous cup!
For though thy brim with nightshade bloom,
I'll drink thy sparkling poison up.

Yes though the adder lurk below,
And mix with death this rosy wine,
Yet will I drink, till it shall flow,
Through every pore and vein of mine.

For on a dizzy, dangerous steep
My aching head I'd sooner rest.
Without a friend to guard my sleep,
Than seek repose on human breast.

Less treacherous is the panther's wife,
Less to be feared the tiger's grin,
Than faithless friendship's wintry smile,
That kills the nobler part within.

Then come, oblivious nectar, come,
I'll taste again the deadly cup,
For though its brim with nightshade bloom,
I'll drink its sparkling poison up."

He paused—for memory brought to view
The bleeding bosom of his sire,
And brought to mind the fond adieu
Of her who wak'd his slumbering lyre.

O memory!—then 'twas thine to save,
The noblest youth—the manliest form
That ever rode the dark blue wave,
Or braved the fury of the storm.

For quickly from his lips he spurn'd,
The life and peace-deceiving bowl,
And back to joy and health return'd,
Ere it had numb'd his generous soul.

To the Public.
 Having understood that certain persons who are desirous of obtaining the appointment of Harbor Master, which I now hold, have circulated a report that I have resigned that office, and have by means of this story, prevailed upon several respectable citizens to recommend them as proper persons to fill the pretended vac-cancy—I beg leave respectfully to inform my fellow citizens, that I never did resign the said office which is all important to me in my old age, nor have I any idea of doing so. It is true that I have been afflicted with an illness which has prevented me from giving that PERSONAL attention to the duties of the office which I wished: but, thank God, I am fast recovering, and hope soon to be able to attend to business as usual.
 In the mean time, I humbly trust, that my fellow citizens will not be imposed upon, to give their aid in promoting the views of my enemies, and thus to deprive me of the chief support of my old age.
